

The Wellness Council of America
Presents a
Well City Proclamation

To the city of

RACINE, WISCONSIN

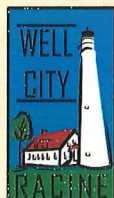

Whereas the health and well-being of Racine's working men and women, their spouses, and dependents matters greatly; and

Whereas healthcare cost containment among Racine's corporations and organizations is of the utmost priority;

The Wellness Council of America hereby decrees that the city of Racine has been designated as a Bronze Well City on this 25th day of April 2012.

With this designation, the city of Racine has distinguished itself as one of the healthiest cities in America. By engaging organizations that employ more than 20% of the city's working population, Racine's business, health, and civic leaders have taken significant measures to protect the health and well-being of the working people of Racine as well as striving to contain ever escalating healthcare costs.

On behalf of the Wellness Council of America's Board of Directors, please accept our warmest congratulations and our heartfelt thanks for your energy, enthusiasm, and commitment in distinguishing the city of Racine as one of the premier communities in the United States.

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "D. Hunnicutt".

David Hunnicutt, PhD
President